hen took up a position off Bath Beach await-Through the keenness of Joseph Back, Superintendent of George W. Roder & Co.'s Anderson at Perth Amboy June 8, and to-day on the way down the harbor the men were Acting Chief of Police Burke, of that place, is in possession of a number of facts that may go a great way towards clearing up this strange mystery. Supt. Back called on Chief Burke at Perth

Amboy early in the current week and told this story: On Tuesday, June 28, two men, both ragged and penniless, called at the Roder factory and requested work. The spokesman of the pair gave his name as John Miller, and said he was familiar with the work required, as he had been employed in a number of terra-cotta Stactories. and mentioned Maurer's and the Staten Island Terra-Cotta Works, both of which are in Perth Amboy. Supt. Back put Miller at work at $7 a week

He told Back he had left Perth Amboy a week before, which would make it about June 20. Miller was unable to pay for lodgings and the by CUTICURA REMEDIES. Thinks them of more value to the world than any other Two days after Miller went to work, Back, medicines. REV. WM. CREELMAN, night watchman, John Diffler, permitted him to sleep in the hayloft. remembering the circumstances of the Mary Anderson murder, said to Miller: "What do you know about that Mary Anderson murder? Who killed her ?" Back said Miller became very much agitated and stammered, "What murder? What Anderson girl?" Then, he added, he didn't hear much about the case, as he had left Perth Amboy the day after the tracedy. That was indirect contradiction to his other statement that he had left Pertu Amboy only a week prior to going to work for Roder & Co.

Back grew auspicious and again questioned Anderson; that she was a pretty girl and that the Polaks (Poles) killed her. The Erst day Miller worked at Roder's he tried to sell a razor for 50 cents. The day after Back had the conversation with Miller the former got one of the workmen to buy the rayor and Back secured it. He instructed the workmen to try to buy a pistoi from Miller if he had one, but the latter said he hadn't one, although his friend, who was with him when he ed for work, had a 32-calibre revolver, and he would bring it around in a day or two On Saturday, July 2, Miller was paid off with the rest of the workmen. Meanwhile he scarcely left the works at all, his duties keeping him busy by day, and he had his meals brought to him at night by Watchman Diffie.

The men noticed Miller's strange conduct, and a number of them questioned him about the Perth Amboy tragedy. He always grew very pervous, and pleaded entire ignorance of the affair. One day a fellow-workman named Neumann spoke to diller, addressing him by name, and the latter did not reply. Neumann again spoke, and Miller said: "John Adeler is my right name; I forget my New York name."

When Back got the razor he took it to Dr McGuaran, 426 West Fifty-first street, who said the blade was bloodstnined.

Back then determined to communicate

The fact that Miller went away with a day pay still due him only added to Sunt. Back's suspicion, and finally he laid the facts before and the Provost Marshal's guard. Chief Burke. The latter has Miller's razor in his possession and the stains on the blade will be analyzed.

The Amboy police regard the clue as a promising one and they are again working up he details with renewed vigor.
